Swedish statement (unofficial translation in English, SV original in Annex)

Marketing authorisation for the stacked maize lines
MON 89034x1507xMON88017x59122 and clones thereof and maize line
MON89034x1507xNK603 for use in food and feed

The companies Dow AgroSciences Ltd and Monsanto Europe S. A. have applied for authorisation for food and feed containing or consisting of the GMO maize line

MON 89034x1507xMON88017x59122 and clones thereof and maize line MON89034x1507xNK603.

EFSA has assessed the rapeseed lines as safe for health and the environment and has expressed a favourable opinion on the request. Sweden agrees with EFSA's assessment and votes in favour of the Commission's proposed decision.

This position does not affect Sweden's stance on the future decision on the cultivation of GMO-crops which tolerate the herbicide glufosinate-ammonium. That substance has very dangerous properties and is classified as reprotoxic in category IB, which means that it does not meet the requirement for authorisation according to the EU's new Regulation (EC) No 1107/2009 on plant protection products.

The Chair indicated that the Commission services will proceed with the authorisation and submit a draft measure to the College for possible adoption. Pursuant to Article 4(6) of the Rules of procedure of the appeal committee, the Chair will, as soon as possible, inform the members of the committee on the intention of the Commission.

Röstförklaring

2013-07-11

Landsbygdsdepartementet

Marknadsgodkännande av de staplade majslinjen MON 89034×1507×MON88017×59122 och dess klyvningsprodukter samt majslinjen MON89034×1507×NK603 för användning i livsmedel och foder

Företagen Dow AgroSciences Ltd och Monsanto Europe S. A. har ansökt om godkännande av livsmedel och foder som innehåller eller består av den genetiskt modifierade majslinjen MON 89034×1507×MON88017×59122 och dess klyvningsprodukter samt majslinjen MON89034×1507×NK603

EFSA har bedömt rapslinjerna som hälso- och miljösäkra och lämnat ett positivt yttrande över ansökan. Sverige delar EFSA:s bedömning och röstar för EU-kommissionens förslag till beslut.

Denna ståndpunkt påverkar inte Sveriges ställningstaganden i framtida beslut om odling av GMO-grödor som är toleranta mot ogräsmedlet glufosinatammonium. Glufosinatammonium har mycket allvarliga egenskaper och är klassificerat som reprotoxiskt i kategori 1B vilket innebär att det inte uppfyller kraven för godkännande under EUs nya växtskyddsmedelsförordning 1107/2009.
